

Acknowledgements

Books are the work of many people and this one is no different. The editors owe an enormous debt of gratitude to Kathryn Skorkiewicz in the Department of Pacific Affairs at The Australian National University (ANU). Kathryn was responsible for organising the copyediting, checking the permissions and for making a reality of one reviewer's suggestion—one we accepted—that we not only provide biographical information about contributors but also give them the opportunity to describe their personal academic journey at the University of the South Pacific (USP) and ANU. We would also like to thank the copyeditors Cathy Johnstone and Sarah Jost for their careful work in rendering the collection publishable on a number of platforms by ANU Press. And we pay tribute to Emily Hazlewood at ANU Press for seeing our collection through to publication with her characteristic high standards and attention to detail.

Finally, this collection would not have been published without the financial support of the Department of Pacific Affairs through the Australian Government's Pacific Research Program and the personal support of Nicole Haley, Program Convenor.

This text is taken from Understanding Oceania: Celebrating the University of the South Pacific and its collaboration with The Australian National University, edited by Stewart Firth and Vijay Naidu, published 2019 by ANU Press, The Australian National University, Canberra, Australia.