

---

HUMAN ECOLOGY REVIEW

---

Volume 25, Number 2, 2019

---

SPECIAL SECTION: WHERE ARE THE WILD THINGS?

---

Introductory Comments Pele Cannon and Mihnea Tanasescu	3
Future Wild: Ecology, Sustainability, and Science Fiction John Visvader	7
Large Carnivore Attacks on Humans: The State of Knowledge Jennifer Rebecca Kelly, Thomas J. Doherty, Thomas Gabel and Willa Disbrow	15
The Face of the Beast: Bestial Descriptions and Psychological Response in Horror Literature Jonathan W. Thurston	35

---

RESEARCH AND THEORY IN HUMAN ECOLOGY

---

The “Efficiency Concern”: Exploring Wildfire Risk on Heirs’ Property in Macon-Bibb County, Georgia, United States of America Amanda Aragón, Cassandra Johnson Gaither, Marguerite Madden and Scott Goodrick	51
Hungry Ghosts: The Impact of Food as a Workplace Health Concern among University Staff and Faculty Annie L. Booth	69
Trees and Trash: Examining the Link Between Urban Forest Engagement and Blight in Atlanta, Georgia, United States Cassandra Johnson Gaither, Eric Kuehler, Wayne Zipperer, Ebenezer O. Aka and Brian Barger	91
Reconceptualizing Climate Change Denial: Ideological Denialism Misdiagnoses Climate Change and Limits Effective Action Brian Petersen, Diana Stuart and Ryan Gunderson	117
Manufacturing the Urban Rift: Manufacturing as a Moderator of the Urbanization–CO <sub>2</sub> Emissions Relationship, 2000–2013 Ryan Thombs and Andrew Jorgenson	143

---

BOOK REVIEW

---

The Politics of the Anthropocene	165
By John S. Dryzek and Jonathan Pickering
Reviewed by Dahlia Simangan and Hannah Barrowman
<hr/>
Contributors to this issue	171
<hr/>	