

FIGURES

Figure 3.1 Political party advertising spending, 1 September 2018 – 18 May 2019 . . . . .	53
Figure 3.2 Proportion of House of Representatives votes by voting method . . . . .	62
Figure 3.3 Rise in proportion of House of Representatives votes cast before election day. . . . .	64
Figure 7.1 ALP first-preference voting intentions between the 2016 and 2019 federal elections . . . . .	130
Figure 7.2 Coalition first-preference voting intentions between the 2016 and 2019 federal elections. . . . .	131
Figure 7.3 Coalition two-party-preferred voting intentions between the 2016 and 2019 federal elections. . . . .	132
Figure 7.4 First-preference voting intentions house effects, 2016–19 . . . . .	134
Figure 7.5 Coalition two-party-preferred voting intentions house effects, 2016–19. . . . .	135
Figure 7.6 Coalition two-party-preferred voting intentions historical house effects, 2004–19 . . . . .	138
Figure 7.7 Labor first-preference voting intentions historical house effects, 2004–19. . . . .	139
Figure 7.8 Coalition first-preference voting intentions historical house effects, 2004–19. . . . .	140
Figure 7.9 Dispersion before an election, 2004–19. . . . .	143
Figure 9.1 Total House of Representatives candidates per election, 1990–2019 . . . . .	183

Figure 9.2 Labor two-party-preferred vote in each State compared with the remainder of the country, 1958–2019 . . . . . 186

Figure 9.3 Seats decided on preferences, 1993–2019 . . . . . 188

Figure 9.4 Labor two-party-preferred vote before and on election day . . . . . 190

Figure 9.5 Informal voting rate at federal elections, 1990–2019 . . . . 191

Figure 9.6 Non-classic races in federal elections, 1990–2019 . . . . . 196

Figure 10.1 Example of the Senate ballot paper . . . . . 206

Figure 12.1 First-preference vote intention for the House of Representatives, by age. . . . . 257

Figure 12.2 Non-voting for the House of Representatives, by age. . . 257

Figure 12.3 Support for the use of negative gearing for investment properties, by age. . . . . 258

Figure 12.4 First-preference vote intention for the House of Representatives, by support of the use of negative gearing for investment properties and age. . . . . 259

Figure 12.5 Party support by business or trust ownership and household income. . . . . 261

Figure 12.6 First-preference vote intention for the House of Representatives, by home ownership and household income . . . 261

Figure 12.7 First-preference defections from Labor for the House of Representatives, by household income . . . . . 262

Figure 12.8 First-preference defections from the Coalition for the House of Representatives, by household income . . . . . 263

Figure 12.9 Support for the use of negative gearing for investment properties, by home ownership and household income . . . . . 263

Figure 12.10 Vote intention by support for the use of negative gearing for investment properties and household income. . . . . 264

Figure 12.11 First-preference vote intention for the House of Representatives, by ancestry . . . . . 268

Figure 12.12 Belief that rights for same-sex couples have gone too far, by ancestry. . . . . 268

Figure 12.13 First-preference defections from Labor for the House of Representatives, by Chinese ancestry . . . . . 269

Figure 12.14 First-preference defections from the Coalition for the House of Representatives, by Chinese ancestry. . . . . 270

Figure 13.1 ALP first preferences, 1980–2019 . . . . . 279

Figure 13.2 Centre-left parties’ share of the vote. . . . . 280

Figure 13.3 Key policy offerings of major parties, 2019 federal election . . . . . 281

Figure 15.1 Country/National Party share of primary votes and seats for the House of Representatives at national elections . . . 319

Figure 15.2 Ratings for the factors of ‘security and patriotism’ and ‘equality and freedom’ . . . . . 324

Figure 16.1 House and Senate results for the Australian Greens, 1993–2019 . . . . . 332

Figure 17.1 First-preference votes for minor parties and Independents. . . . . 344

Figure 22.1 2019 election coverage in daily metropolitan Australian newspapers . . . . . 435

Figure 22.2 Comparing sentiment of stories about parties and their leaders. . . . . 437

Figure 22.3 Comparing the proportions of stories in the 2016 and 2019 election campaigns that were not neutral in sentiment. . . . 437

Figure 22.4 Story topics most commonly featured on the front pages of the daily press during the 2019 election campaign . . . . . 438

Figure 22.5 Ratings figures for Sky News content on free-to-air television during the 2019 election campaign. . . . . 442

Figure 22.6 The total number of online interactions with the major political parties and their leaders’ political communications before and during the 2019 election campaign. . . . . 447

This text is taken from Morrison's Miracle: The 2019 Australian Federal Election, edited by Anika Gauja, Marian Sawyer and Marian Simms, published 2020 by ANU Press, The Australian National University, Canberra, Australia.