Contents

Preface
Malcolm Allbrook

ARTICLES

Chinese women in colonial New South Wales: From absence to presence
Kate Bagnall

Heroines and their ‘moments of folly’: Reflections on writing the biography of a woman composer
Suzanne Robinson

Building, celebrating, participating: A Macdougall mini-dynasty in Australia, with some thoughts on multigenerational biography
Pat Buckridge

‘Splendid opportunities’: Women traders in postwar Hong Kong and Australia, 1946–1949
Jackie Dickenson

John Augustus Hux (1826–1864): A colonial goldfields reporter
Peter Crabb

‘I am proud of them all & we all have suffered’: World War I, the Australian War Memorial and a family in war and peace
Alexandra McKinnon

By their words and their deeds, you shall know them: Writing live biographical subjects—A memoir
Nichola Garvey

REVIEW ARTICLES

Margy Burn, ‘Overwhelmed by the archive? Considering the biographies of Germaine Greer’
BOOK REVIEWS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reviewer</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Pages</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kim Sterelny</td>
<td>Billy Griffiths, Deep Time Dreaming: Uncovering Ancient Australia</td>
<td>163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Susan Priestley</td>
<td>Eleanor Robin, Swanston: Merchant Statesman</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sophie Scott-Brown</td>
<td>Georgina Arnott, The Unknown Judith Wright</td>
<td>191</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wilbert W. W. Wong</td>
<td>Philippe Paquet, Simon Leys: Navigator between Worlds</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Darryn Ansted</td>
<td>Rex Butler and Sheridan Palmer (eds), Antipodean Perspective: Selected Writings of Bernard Smith</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes on contributors</td>
<td></td>
<td>213</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
The Australian Journal of Biography and History is an initiative of the National Centre of Biography (NCB) in the Research School of Social Sciences at The Australian National University. The NCB was established in 2008 to extend the work of the Australian Dictionary of Biography and to serve as a focus for the study of life writing in Australia, supporting innovative research and writing to the highest standards in the field, nationally and internationally. The Australian Journal of Biography and History seeks to promote the study of biography in Australia. Articles that appear in the journal are lively, engaging and provocative, and are intended to appeal to the current popular and scholarly interest in biography, memoir and autobiography. They recount interesting and telling life stories and engage critically with issues and problems in historiography and life writing.

The journal publishes peer-reviewed articles on Australian historical biography, including biographical studies, studies relating to theory and methodology, and the associated genres of autobiography, life writing, memoir, collective biography and prosopography. We are especially interested in articles that explore the way in which biography and its associated genres can illuminate themes in Australian history, including women in Australian society, family history, transnational networks and mobilities, and Indigenous history.

Submission Details
Please send article submissions or abstracts to the Editor, Dr Malcolm Allbrook, National Centre of Biography, The Australian National University. Email: Malcolm.Allbrook@anu.edu.au. Articles should be in the range of 5,000 to 8,000 words (excluding footnotes), although longer submissions may be considered after consultation with the Editor. Style and referencing: please use footnotes in Chicago style, and follow Australian spelling.
About the Journal
The Australian Journal of Biography and History is an initiative of the National Centre of Biography (NCB) in the Research School of Social Sciences at The Australian National University. The NCB was established in 2008 to extend the work of the Australian Dictionary of Biography and to serve as a focus for the study of life writing in Australia, supporting innovative research and writing to the highest standards in the field, nationally and internationally. The Australian Journal of Biography and History seeks to promote the study of biography in Australia. Articles that appear in the journal are lively, engaging and provocative, and are intended to appeal to the current popular and scholarly interest in biography, memoir and autobiography. They recount interesting and telling life stories and engage critically with issues and problems in historiography and life writing.

The journal publishes peer-reviewed articles on Australian historical biography, including biographical studies, studies relating to theory and methodology, and the associated genres of autobiography, life writing, memoir, collective biography and prosopography. We are especially interested in articles that explore the way in which biography and its associated genres can illuminate themes in Australian history, including women in Australian society, family history, transnational networks and mobilities, and Indigenous history.

Submission Details
Please send article submissions or abstracts to the Editor, Dr Malcolm Allbrook, National Centre of Biography, The Australian National University. Email: Malcolm.Allbrook@anu.edu.au.

Articles should be in the range of 5,000 to 8,000 words (excluding footnotes), although longer submissions may be considered after consultation with the Editor.

Style and referencing: please use footnotes in Chicago style, and follow Australian spelling.

Contact Details
All correspondence should be addressed to the Editor, Australian Journal of Biography and History, National Centre of Biography, School of History, RSIS, 9 Fellows Road (Coombs Building), Acton, ANU, 2601, or Malcolm.Allbrook@anu.edu.au.

WARNING: Readers are notified that this publication contains the names and images of deceased persons.