This volume arose out of a panel on Indigenous participation in the Australian economy at the joint annual conference of the Australian Anthropological Society, the Association of Social Anthropologists (UK), and the Association of Social Anthropologists of Aotearoa (New Zealand) in Auckland 2008. I would like to thank the organisers of the conference, especially Professor Veronica Strang and Dr Mark Busse, and participants in the panel, especially Professor Jon Altman who was the discussant. The panel arose out of a research project funded by an ARC Linkage grant (LP0775392), based at the Australian National University and with the National Museum of Australia as the industry partner. The researchers on the project: Professor Christopher Lloyd, Dr Anthony Redmond, Dr Fiona Skyring, Mr John White, and myself, contributed both to the panel and to this volume. I thank in particular Dr Michael Pickering of the National Museum of Australia, and staff of the School of Archaeology and Anthropology at the Australian National University for their support. I am grateful to two anonymous referees for their helpful comments, Jan Borrie who edited the manuscript, and Karen Westmacott and Duncan Beard of the ANU E-press for shepherding the manuscript through the publication process.
