Public Sector Governance in Australia
Public Sector Governance in Australia

Meredith Edwards • John Halligan • Bryan Horrigan • Geoffrey Nicoll
Contents

Acknowledgements ................................................................. ix
Abbreviations ................................................................. xi
Introduction ................................................................. 1

Part I. Context and Framework

1. Dimensions of Governance for the Public Sector ............ 9
   The problems of ‘governance-talk’ .................................... 9
   Meanings and components of governance ......................... 11
   From governance conceptions to governance planes and forms . 21
   Norms of public sector governance in their broader governance context ........................................... 25
   Governance changes, limits and challenges ....................... 30
   Conclusion ........................................................................ 33

2. Rise of Corporate and Public Governance .................... 35
   Three phases in public sector reform .................................. 35
   Modes of governance at the system and agency levels .......... 39
   Rise of corporate governance .......................................... 41
   Redefining governance in the public sector:
   Ahead of the Game, CFAR and Uhrig ................................ 48
   The emergence of public governance ............................... 55
   Conclusion ........................................................................ 57

3. Exploring Tensions in Public Governance .......... 59
   Tensions in context ........................................................ 60
   Tensions between the political and executive arms of government ................................................. 64
   Organisational tensions within departments and agencies .... 65
   Tensions in integrating authorities, companies and corporate governance ....................................... 67
   Sources of tension in integrating authorities and companies ............................................................. 68
   Difficulties in coordination and collaboration within and external to government ............................. 71
   Tensions in accommodating concepts and language of governance ................................................ 74
   Conclusion ........................................................................ 77
Part II. Rise of Corporate and Public Governance

4. System Governance  .................................................. 81

Overview of system governance ...................................... 81
The relationship between the political executive and the public service ........................................... 84
Senior appointments .................................................. 85
Central steering and coordination ................................... 87
Governance styles and issues ........................................ 100
Conclusion .......................................................... 106

5. Departmental Governance  ................................. 107

Governance of the department of state ............................... 107
External accountability and relationships .......................... 117
Issues in public governance ........................................... 122
Directions for departmental governance in the 2010s .......... 127
Conclusion .......................................................... 128

6. Board Governance in Authorities and Companies .... 131

The roles of the board and management ............................... 132
Improving the capacity of the public sector board .............. 146
Infrastructure Australia and public-private partnerships .... 148
Conclusion .......................................................... 149

7. Participatory Governance  ................................. 151

Participatory governance frameworks .............................. 152
Active participation: Issues and challenges ....................... 157
Fundamental factors ................................................. 159
Conclusion .......................................................... 170
Part III. Key Issues

8. Creating and Regulating Public Sector Bodies
   The changing environment for governance design
   The impact of governance regulatory architecture upon governance arrangements
   Formal governmental guidance on governance design arrangements
   From policy design to legislative implementation
   Conclusion

9. Appointments and Boards
   The Australian context and a comparative perspective
   Behaviour of main players and empirical findings
   Principles and better practice
   Unresolved issues of principle
   Conclusion

10. Public Governance: Challenges and Issues in an Age of Uncertainty
   Governance trends and challenges
   Continuing and emerging tensions
   Implications for government
   Governance for the twenty-first century
   Conclusion

Appendix 1: Methodology for Interview Study 2004–07

Appendix 2: Flipchart of FMA Act Agencies and CAC Act bodies

Appendix 3: The Stages in a Good Appointment Process

References

Index