

Tables and figures

Tables

2.1	Comparison of growth performance in the pre-reform and reform periods	28
2.2	Contribution to GDP by sectors	29
2.3	The net contribution of rural factor reallocation to economic growth	30
2.4	Change in sources of bank funds	33
2.5	Savings rates of rural and urban residents	34
2.6	Input-driven growth and TFP changes in the pre-reform and reform periods	38
2.7	The impact of policy changes and political instability on economic growth	40
2.8	Net exports as percentage of GDP	40
2.9	Contribution of foreign capital to economic growth	42
2.10	Decomposition of economic growth by contributors	43
2.1A	Input-output growth and TFP growth, 1954–97	45
2.2A	Capital, employment and GDP, 1952–97	46
2.3A	Estimation result (Cochrane-Orcutt regression)	48
4.1	Share of goods sold at state-fixed prices, 1978–93	82
5.1	Controversies about China's state sector reform	97
5.2	Selected studies on TFP growth in China's SOEs	108
5.3	State-owned enterprise profits and real wages, 1985–96	110
5.4	Losses and subsidies to SOEs in China	113
6.1	Breakdown of China's bank sector assets	121
7.1	Ordinary least squares estimation of household net income equation	152
7.2	Comparison of return to human capital between China and some industrial countries	157
7.3	Occupational distribution, hours worked and earnings of rural migrants and urban residents in Shanghai, 1995	163
8.1	Gross output value of industry by ownership in China	171
8.2	Spatial inequality in China: provincial gross national product (GNP) per capita	172
8.3	Income growth and income inequality in rural China, 1978–97	174

8.4	Income growth and income inequality in urban China, 1978–97	175
8.5	Changes in income inequality between rural and urban China, 1985–97	176
8.6	Decomposition analysis of income inequality in rural China, 1988 and 1995	178
8.7	Decomposition analysis of income inequality in urban China, 1988 and 1995	179
8.8	Decomposition of within-group and between-group inequality in 1988 and 1995 by individual location	181
8.9	Inequality of sub-group population in 1988 and 1995 by location	182

Figures

1.1	Proportionate increase in real output, 1978–98	10
1.2	Structural changes in China, 1978–97	11
1.3	Employment in township and village enterprises, 1978–97	11
1.4	Exports of large developing countries and Australia, 1978–98	12
1.5	Proportionate growth of exports (constant prices), 1978–98	12
1.6	China: changes in composition of exports, 1978–96	13
1.7	Developing economy shares of world exports in labour-intensive manufactures, 1978–96	13
1.8	Growth in East Asian imports, 1985–98	17
1.9	Growth in China's exports, 1985–98	18
1.10	Growth in China's imports, 1985–98	19
1.11	China in the East Asian crisis, competitiveness index, 1990=100	21
2.1	Domestic savings and investment in fixed assets as percentages of GDP	35
2.2	Growth rates of GDP and domestic investment, 1954–97	35
2.3	Actual GDP growth and input-driven growth, 1953–97	39
4.1	Contribution of exports to economic growth, 1990–98	87
6.1	China's financial deepening, 1978–97	119
6.2	China's inter-bank money market trading volume	130
6.3	China's fiscal deficit and debt issuance profile, 1978–98	131
6.4	China's treasury bond trading	135
6.5	China's annual domestic–external debt issuance mix, 1979–96	135

6.6	China: foreign debt expansion profile, 1981–97	137
6.7	China: sovereign bond performance, 8/97–10/98	137
6.8	Total weekly trading volume for Shanghai and Shenzhen exchanges	141
6.9	Chinese share market returns, 1/93–12/98	143
7.1	Impact of daily wage change on annual labour supply	153
7.2	Comparison of experience-earning profiles	157
7.3	The three-sector model and rural–urban migration	161
7.4	Impact of elimination of labour market distortions on urban employment and wages	164
7.5	Industrial SOE profits and losses	165
9.1	The starting point of economic reform in China	187
9.2	China's transition of economic system and transformation of economic development	188
9.3	The tradeoff between economic reform and economic development	191
9.4	Economic reform and economic development: a 'virtuous cycle'	192
9.5	Price and ownership reform in the rural sector	194

The following symbols are used

- .. not available
- zero
- . insignificant
- n.a. not applicable