A Good Life
Human rights and encounters with modernity
A Good Life
Human rights and encounters with modernity

Mary Edmunds
Contents

Foreword ................................................................. vii
Acknowledgments ....................................................... ix
Notes on names and spellings ......................................... xi
List of maps .............................................................. xiii

Introduction

Introduction .............................................................. 3
1. Culture, morality, modernity, and the transformation of social imaginaries .............................................. 9

Part I. Tradition and transformation in a non-colonised state: Thailand

2. Continuities and crisis .................................................. 39
3. Dictatorship and democracy: Competing social imaginaries .......................................................... 71

Part II. Tradition and transformation in a non-colonised state: Spain

4. Old orders and new: The nuns as historical actors ......... 105
5. ‘Quiero ser protagonista de mi vida’: ‘I want to be the main actor in my own life’ ................................. 131

Part III. Colonised people and the nation-state: Aboriginal Australia

6. Ordinary people enduring extraordinary things ............. 159
7. A winnin’ battle ......................................................... 191

Part IV. Modernity and human rights

8. Durban 2001, the United Nations World Conference against Racism ...................................................... 221
9. Human rights and the promise of a good life .................. 249
References .................................................................. 267
Index ........................................................................ 289