In 2010, some 45 years after I began my research on Rote, much had changed in Termanu. Most of the poets whose compositions I recorded had died and what remained of their poetry were memories and my recordings. One poet, Esau Markus Pono, whom I first met in 1965, spanned this period of change and was, at the time, regarded as Termanu’s leading chanter. In 1965, ‘Pak Pono’ lived in the coastal settlement of Hala, a walk of some 40 minutes from the cluster of settlements, Sosa-Dale, Ufa-Len and Kola, where my wife and I were located. As a young man at that time, Pak Pono was involved in a protracted and eventually unsuccessful attempt to marry a woman from the clan Nggofa-Laik. We met and knew of each other but had no close association. By 1973, on my next long stay on Rote, Pak Pono had married and had begun to establish his reputation as a preacher and a poet. At that time, I was involved in sponsoring the final mortuary ceremony—erecting a ring of stones around a large living tree to create a tutus—in honour of Old Meno and needed someone to act as primary speaker at this ritual.¹

Pak Pono was the ideal person for this task because of his evident speaking skills and because, as a preacher, his presence would allay any Christian objections to my reviving so significant a traditional ritual. I was also interested in acquiring animals for the accompanying feast and was able to barter my watch for Pak Pono’s largest pig. His performance at the tutus ceremony established what was to become our continuing relationship.

Some years later, in 1977 and again in 1978, I visited Rote with the filmmaker Tim Asch. By this time, Pak Pono was widely recognised for his use of ritual language in his preaching, and we were able to film him conducting a church service. He was also a member of the groom’s party in a bridewealth payment ceremony that we filmed. As a result of his close involvement in our filming efforts, we invited him for a visit to Canberra to help in the preparation of the film. One of his tasks was to transcribe a great deal of Rotenese that we recorded during filming.

By the 1980s, Pak Pono and I had become close friends and on all subsequent visits to Rote, he was my first point of contact in Termanu. For the past 30 years, as his own skills as an accomplished poet increased, he became my most dedicated advisor on all matters relating to ritual language. On all occasions when I gathered poets for recording sessions on Bali, he joined the group. In short, we two grew old together in a continual effort to document the beauty and intricacies of Rotenese ritual language.

Although I had heard Pak Pono recite Suti Solo do Bina Bane to other poets, I did not record him directly until 2008, and having recorded him in 2008, I asked to record him again (and video him at the same time) in 2009. With an interval of only a year, his two versions are similar to one another. Neither version is long. The 2008 version runs to 126 lines; the 2009 version is somewhat longer and comes to 150 lines. The 2008 version comprises 50 dyadic sets; the 2009 version shares 48 sets with the 2008 version but utilises a dozen additional dyadic sets including several additional longer formulae.

2 I have written on Pak Pono’s use of ritual language in his preaching in Fox (1982).
3 A film was made of the bridewealth payment ceremony, Spear and Sword: A Payment of Bridewealth (Fox with Asch and Asch 1988), but no film was ever made from the footage of the church service. All of the footage is stored in the archives of the Smithsonian Institution.
As compositions, the two versions are worth comparing one with the other: their use of constituent dyadic sets, their order of composition and their reliance on recognisable formulae can provide further insights into the art of composition.

I will therefore compare the two compositions in sequence with one another.

Initial Dialogue and First Directive

2008 Version

23. De ala mai dalak dua bobongo
They come to where two roads circle
24. Ma mai enok telu tai lolona.
And come to where three paths cross.
25. Boe ma Suti neu kokolak
Suti begins to speak
26. Ma Bina neu dedé'ak, nae:
And Bina begins to talk, saying:
27. 'Ndele mafa ndendelek
‘Remember, do remember
28. Ma nesa masa nanedak
And keep in mind, do keep in mind
29. Bo inango nou
My dear mother
30. Ma bo té'ongo nei
And my dear aunt
31. O mu losa lo
[When] you go to your home
32. Ma o mu nduku uma
And you go to your house
33. Na boso masu ndalu au
Do not smoke me
34. Ma boso pila nuli au,
And do not burn me,
35. Te au daehena
For I am a human being
36. Ma au ia bataholi.
And I am indeed a person.
37. Au ia ana-mak
I am indeed an orphan
38. Ma au ia falu-inak.’
And I am indeed a widow.’
39. Boe ma ala kokolak
So they speak
40. Ma ala dedé’ak ma lae:
And they talk, saying:
41. ‘Sona mu dalak dua bobongon
‘Then go to where two roads circle
42. Ma mu enok telu tai lolon.’
And go to where the three paths cross.’
43. Boe ma Suti Solo do Bina Bane So Suti Solo or Bina Bane
44. Ala kokolak They speak
45. Ma ala dede’ak ma lae: And they talk and say:
46. ’Malole basa sila ’All this is good
47. Ma mandak basa sila. And all this is proper.
48. Têhu hataholi mai But if people come
49. Ma daehena mai And humans come
50. Na ala momolo tatabu ami They will step and tread upon us
51. Na ami kokolak mo se Then with whom will we speak
52. Ma ami dede’ak mo se?’ And with whom will we talk?’

2009 Version

36. De ala mulai They then begin
37. Ala tulek do ala falik, They go back or they return,
38. Falik mai leo uma Return to the home
39. Ma tulek mai leo lon. And go back to the house.
40. De ala bela’o As they go
41. Boe ma Suti ana dede’ak Suti, he talks
42. Ma Bina ana kokolak, nae: And Bina, he speaks, saying:
43. ’Bo inango nou ’My dear mother
44. Do bo te’ongo nou Or my dear aunt
45. Neda masa-nenedak Keep in mind, do keep in mind
46. Ma ndele mafa ndendelek And remember, do remember
47. Fo teu losa uma sona, When we reach the house,
48. Boso pila nuli ami Do not burn us
49. Do boso masu ndalu ami, Or do not smoke us,
50. Tê ami ia dae-hena For we indeed are human beings
51. Ma ami ia hataholi, And we indeed are people,
52. Ami falu-ina Bina Bane la We are the widows, Bina Bane
53. Ma ami ana-ma Suti Solo la.’ And we are the orphans, Suti Solo.’
54. Boe ma ala dede’ak So they talk
55. Ma ala kokolak lo duas lae: And they speak with the two, saying:
56. ’Ita nai enok dua bobongon ’We are where two paths circle
57.  Ma nai dalak telu tai lolona  And where three roads cross
58.  Ela emi dua meme ia.  Let us leave you here.’
59.  Boe ma nae:  So he says:
60.  ’Malole ndia so  ‘That would be good
61.  Ma manda ndia so,  That would be proper,
62.  Tehu daehena mai  But if humans come
63.  Ma hataboli mai  And people come
64.  Na ala momolo ami  They will step on us
65.  Ma ala tatibu ami,  And they will tread on us,
66.  Na ami maka bani neu se  Then on whom will we rely
67.  Ma ami mama hena neu se?’  And on whom will we depend?’

Second Dialogue Directive

2008 Version

53.  Boe ma lae:  So they say:
54.  ‘Sona mu mo sā'o tua  ‘Then go be with the lontar shadow
55.  Ma mu mo mafò ai.’  And go be with the tree shade.’
56.  Boe ma Suti Solo nahala  So Suti Solo gives voice
57.  Ma Bina Bane nadasi ma nae:  And Bina Bane lifts words and says:
58.  ‘Ami [mo] mafò ai  ‘We [can] go with the tree shade
59.  Te mafò ai la heok  But if the tree shade shifts
60.  Ma ami mo sā'o tua  And we can go with the lontar shadow
61.  Fo sā'o tua labiluk.  But if the lontar shadow moves
62.  Na ami kokolak mo se  Then with whom will we speak
63.  Ma ami dede’ak mo se?’  And with whom will we talk?’

2009 Version

68.  Boe ma lae:  So they say:
69.  ‘Sona dua ma  ‘So the two of you
70.  Meu mo mafò tua  Go with lontar shade
71.  Ma meu mo sā'o ai.’  And go with the tree shadow.’
9. VERSIOnS VIII AND IX FROM THE DOMAIn OF TERMANU

72. Boe ma lae: Then they say:

73. ‘Ndia boe o malole ndia ‘That indeed would be good

74. Tehu neu faik But during the day

75. Mafo ai la heok If the tree shade shifts

76. Ma sa’o tua hiluk, And the lontar shadow moves,

77. Na ami kokolak mo se Then with whom will we speak

78. Ma ami dede’ak mo se?’ And with whom will we talk?’

Third Dialogue Directive

2008 Version

64. ‘Na sona mu mo neka bade ‘Then go with the rice basket

65. Ma mu mo bou tua.’ And go with the lontar syrup vat.’

66. Boe ma lae ndia: So they say this:

67. ‘Boe o malole ndia so ‘Oh, that would be good

68. Ma mandak ndia so, And that would be proper,

69. Tehu fui-ana la kae But if strangers climb up [into the house]

70. Ma ae-ana la bene na And if neighbours ascend [into the house]

71. Basa bou tua la The syrup vat will be finished

72. Ma basa neka bade la. And the rice basket emptied,

73. Na ami kokolak mo se Then with whom will we speak

74. Ma ami dede’ak mo se?’ And with whom will we talk?’

2009 Version

79. Boe lahala ma lae: ‘A sona So they give voice and say: ‘If so,

80. Dua ma meu mo neka bade Then you two go with the rice basket

81. Ma dua ma meu mo bou tua.’ And you two go with the lontar syrup vat.’

82. Boe ma lae: So they say:

83. ‘Tete’ek ndia nde malole ‘Truly, that would be good

84. Ma na nde mandaka And that would be proper

85. Tehu neu fai-na ma keko-na But on a certain day and time

86. Fo fui ana la kae If strangers climb [into the house]
87. Ma ae ana la hena And neighbours ascend [into the house]
88. Na basa neka hade Then the rice basket will be emptied
89. Ma basa bou tua, And the syrup vat finished
90. Na ami mama hena neu se Then on whom will we depend
91. Ma ami maka bani neu se?’ And on whom will we rely?’

Fourth Dialogue Directive

2008 Version

75. Boe ma nae: So she says:
76. ‘Mu mo lete nalu kala ‘Go be with the high hills
77. Mu mo mo loa kala.’ And go be with the wide fields.’
78. Boe ma nae: So he says:
79. ‘Ndia boe malole ‘That would be good
80. Ma ndia boe o manda-kala And that would be proper
81. Tehu neu fai-na fo bote-la mai But some day a flock of goats will come
82. Ma neu ledo na tena-la mai And at a certain time a herd of buffalo will come
83. Fo ala heheta [ami] They will trample us into the mud
84. Ma habapa ami And they will tread us into the dirt
85. Na ami dede’ak mo se Then with whom will we speak
86. Ma ami kokolak mo se?’ And with whom will we talk?’

2009 Version

92. Boe ma nae: ‘Sona, So she says: ‘If so,
93. Dua ma meu mo mo naluk You two should go with the long field
94. Ma meu mo lete lepak.’ And go with the mountain ridge.’
95. Boe ma nae: Then he says:
96. ‘Auwe, sona ndia faik ‘Oh dear, if that day
97. Fo bote la lama da’a mai Goats come and scatter about
98. Ma tena la lama nggela main a And buffalo come and spread out
99. Nau ta nau fa o Wish it or not
100. Ala heheta do habapa ami so, They will tramp or tread upon us,
9. VERSIONS VIII AND IX FROM THE DOMAIN OF TERMANU

101. Sona ami nama henak ta For us, there is nothing to depend on
102. Ma ami naka banik ta. And for us, there is nothing to rely upon.

Fifth and Final Dialogue Directive

2008 Version

87. ‘Sona mu le tatai-na ‘Then go to the edge of the river
88. Ma mu oli titiana And go to the side of the estuary
89. Fo ela leo bena So that it may be so
90. Faik fo betu doa lasi Each day the forest cuckoos
91. Ala bedoa tunga lasi They cry doa-doa through the forest
92. Na udan tunga lasi As the rain comes through the forest
93. Ma kolobao le la taona And the river woodcocks do the same
94. Bebao tunga le [They] cry bao-bao along the river
95. Na fa tunga-tunga le. As the monsoon flood moves down the river.
96. Sona dilu mu sain dale So that descending, you go into the sea
97. Ma loe mu liun dale. And lowering, you go into the ocean.’
98. Boe ma nae: So he says:
99. ‘Malole ndia so ‘That would be good
100. Ma mandak ndia. And that would be proper.
101. Fak ala foki le na When the monsoon rains beat the river
102. Foki leni ami They will beat and carry us
103. Meu leo sain dale That we may go into the sea
104. Ma ami meu liun dale. And we may go into the ocean.
105. De ami bonu boa fo liun We will bob like boa wood to the ocean
106. Ma ami ele piko fo sain. And we will drift like piko wood to the sea.’

2009 Version

103. Boe ma nae: ‘Sona mai, So she says: ‘If that happens,
104. Fo meu le titiana Then go to the side of the river
105. Ma meu oli tatai-na
106. Fo meu faik fo de’eka [?]
107. Doa lasi la bedoa
108. Fo lae betu doa lasi la
109. Bedoa tunga lasi na
110. Udan tunga lasi la
111. Boe ma kolo ba’o le la
112. Ala beba’o tunga tunga le
113. Na fa tunga tunga le.
114. De neu faik fo betu doa lasi la
115. Ala bedoa tunga lasi
116. Boe ma udana boe
117. Tunga tunga lasi
118. De fa boe ana mai
119. Menik koloba’o a
120. Ana ba’o-ba’o tunga le.’
121. Lae: ‘Malole ndia.’
122. De duas lae:
123. ‘Ia sona nda dalek ma tesa teik.’

And go to the edge of the estuary
So that you go each day
The forest cuckoos cry doa-doa
Thus the forest cuckoos
They cry doa-doa through the forest
As the rain comes through the forest,
So the river woodcocks along the river
They cry bao-bao along the river
And the monsoon flood moves down the river.
So each day the forest cuckoos,
They cry doa-doa through the forest
Just as the rain comes
Following through the forest
Just as the monsoon flood comes
To carry away the woodcock
Who crys bao-bao along the river.’
They say: ‘That is good.’
The two say:
‘This is pleasing and satisfying.’

The Return to the Sea and Concluding Lines

2008 Version

107. Boe ma neu nduku sain
108. Ma leu nduku liun.
109. Boe ma liun na e’edo
110. De ana edo henl Suti nggi
111. Ma ana toko henl Bina isin.
112. Ana edo henl Suti nggi

So he goes to the sea
And they go to the ocean.
The sea continually casts out
It casts forth Suti’s pod
And it throws out Bina’s contents.
It casts out Suti’s pod
| 113. | Ma ana toko heni Bina isin. | And throws out Bina’s contents. |
| 114. | Boe ma ana bonu boa | He bobs like boa wood |
| 115. | Ma ana ele piko | And he drifts like piko wood |
| 116. | Basa namo la | [Through] all the harbours |
| 117. | Ma basa tasi la. | And all the seas. |
| 118. | De losa faika | So to this day |
| 119. | Ma nduku ledo ka | And until this time |
| 120. | Mita kada Bina loun | We see only Bina’s shell |
| 121. | Ma hapu kada Suti loun. | And find only Suti’s shell. |
| 122. | Te isin ta. | But no contents. |
| 123. | Bina bei ma-isik | Bina still has contents |
| 124. | Te hu Suti isin ta. | But Suti has no contents. |
| 125. | Losa faik ia | To this day |
| 126. | Ma nduku ledok ia. | And until this time. |

2009 Version

| 124. | De dua leu | So the two go |
| 125. | Le tatai-na ma oli titiana. | To river’s edge and estuary’s side. |
| 126. | De faika fo fa ana mai | Then one day the monsoon comes |
| 127. | Nafa foki neni Bina | The waves beat and carry Bina |
| 128. | Ma nafa foki neni Suti. | And the waves beat and carry Suti. |
| 129. | De ala bonu boa de [neu] liu | They bob like boa wood and go to the ocean |
| 130. | Ma ala ele piko de [neu] sain. | And they drift like piko wood and go to the sea. |
| 131. | Te hu leu sain boe ma | But when they are in the sea |
| 132. | Liun neu na-pode | The ocean throws them back |
| 133. | Ma sain boe o na-edo | And the sea casts them out |
| 134. | Nai fak lama nalu langa | When the monsoon lengthens its head |
| 135. | De liun pode heni Bina isin | The ocean throws away Bina’s contents |
| 136. | Ma sain edo heni Suti nggin. | And the sea casts away Suti’s pods. |
| 137. | Nalak duas bonu boa selu | Then the two bob back like boa wood |
| 138. | De ala dae mai | They come to land |
| 139. | De ala madak mai. | They come to dry land. |
140. Tehu Bina bei ma isik
But Bina still has some contents

141. Ma Suti isi ta.
And Suti has no contents.

142. De losa besaka.
So it is to the present.

143. Ala tao Bina neu dipo ina
They make Bina into a spinning base

144. Ma tao Suti neu tena tauk
And make Suti into an indigo container

145. Fo ina mana p’a abasala
So the woman who winds cotton

146. Ma feto ma feo futusala
And the girl who dyes the threads

147. Tao neu dipo inak
They make a spinning base

148. Ala tao neu tena tauk.
And they make an indigo container.

149. De losa besaka Bina bei ma isik
Until now, Bina still has content

150. Te Suti isin ta kada louna.
But Suti has only its shell.

Compositional Analysis

As is evident from the very beginning, there are various subtle differences between Pak Pono’s 2008 and 2009 recitations. Most notably, in terms of the ritual knowledge of names, Pak Pono gives slightly different names to the women who scoop up Suti Solo do Bina Bane. In the 2008 version, they are named Mo Bisa//Ole Masi, while in the 2009 version, they are named Mo Bisa//Masi Tasi. Significantly as well, the 2009 version is longer, and to reach each equivalent point in the chant narrative, this version utilises more lines. Thus illustratively, in its initial sequence, the 2009 version has six more lines than the 2008 version, beginning with the opening lines: ‘I speak of Suti Solo and I tell of Bina Bane.’ For each of the 16 lines in the 2008 version, however, there is a similar equivalent line. Although the ordering of these lines varies, they are all—with one exception—composed of the same dyadic sets.

There is yet another significant difference between these two versions. Given the dyadic nature of compositions, poets have the option of presenting their recitation in single or plural format—or, as commonly occurs, in a mix of singular and plural formats. Thus, for example, in its early lines and throughout the narrative, the 2008 version mixes singular and plural. Thus, on line five, ana is the singular, third-person pronoun ‘she’, while in line 13, ala is the plural, third-person pronoun ‘they’. (As a consequence, verbal agreements, where necessary, are either singular...
By contrast, the 2009 version is consistently presented in the plural. In lines seven and eight, for example, both verbs tenga-la and nggao-la are plural forms; in lines 13, 14, 15 and 16, the plural form leu of the verb ‘to go’ is used, and the third-person plural pronoun is used throughout the composition.

As a consequence of these differences and the order of composition, the various lines in the two recitations differ slightly, even though they are, for the most part, based on the same dyadic sets. In the initial sequence, only lines 13 and 14 of the 2008 version use a different dyadic set from lines 19 and 20 in the 2009 version. The 2008 version uses the dyadic set namo//lek (‘harbour’//‘waterhole’), whereas the 2009 version uses the set lifu//lek (‘pool’//‘waterhole’). Notably, however, several lines further on in the 2008 version (lines 17–20), Pak Pono uses the set lifu//lek, as he does consistently in his 2009 version.

As a simple illustration, it is useful to compare the first 16 lines of the 2008 version with their equivalent lines in the 2009 version.

(22) Ma ta hapu Dusu La’e. And do not find Dusu La’e fish.

As these recitations proceed, the play on singular and plural continues. Thus, in Suti Solo do Bina Bane’s first dialogue, the 2008 version uses the singular ‘I’ (au) while the 2009 version begins with the use of the third-person singular pronoun (ana) and a first-person singular possessive pronoun (-ngo) but then uses the plural ‘we’ (ami) throughout the actual dialogue.

It is useful to compare the slightly different ways in which these passages are composed. The only compositional flaw that is apparent in comparing the passages is in the 2009 version, which lacks a corresponding line for line 47. Lines 31 and 32 in the 2008 version reveal the expected and appropriate pairing of the sets losa//nduku (‘up to’/‘towards, until, at’) and uma//lo (‘house’/‘home’). The arrangement of the lines is similar but not entirely identical. The lines with ‘My dear mother and my dear aunt’ either precede or follow the lines with ‘Remember, do remember and keep in mind, do keep in mind’.

25. Boe ma Suti neu kokolak
Suti begins to speak
26. Ma Bina neu dede’ak, nae:
And Bina begins to talk, saying:
27. ’Ndele mafa ndendelek
’Remember, do remember
28. Ma nesa masa nenedak
And keep in mind, do keep in mind
29. Bo inango nou
My dear mother
30. Ma bo te’ongo nei
And my dear aunt
31. O mu losa lo
[When] you go to your home
32. Ma o mu nduku uma
And you go to your house
33. Na boso masu ndalu au
Do not smoke me
34. Ma boso pila nuli au,
And do not burn me,
35. Te au dae-hena
For I am a human being
36. Ma au ia hataboli.
And I am indeed a person.
37. Au ia ana-mak
I am indeed an orphan
38. Ma au ia falu-inak.’
And I am indeed a widow.’

41. Boe ma Suti ana dede’ak
Suti, he talks
42. Ma Bina ana kokolak, nae:
And Bina, he speaks, saying:
43. ’Bo inango nou
’My dear mother
44. Do bo te’ongo nou
Or my dear aunt
45. Neda masa-nenedak
Keep in mind, do keep in mind
46. Ma ndele mafa ndendelek
And remember, do remember
47. Fo teu losa uma sona,
When we reach the house,
48. Boso pila nuli ami
Do not burn us
49. Do boso masu ndalu ami,
Or do not smoke us,
50. Te ami ia dae-hena
For we indeed are human beings
51. Ma ami ia hataboli,
And we indeed are people,
52. Ami falu-ina Bina Bane la
We are the widows, Bina Bane
53. Ma ami ana-ma Suti Solo la.’
And we are the orphans, Suti Solo.’
Although with their various uses of singular and plural and the missing line in the 2009 version these two passages are indeed different, their composition is in fact based on the same eight dyadic sets: 1) kokolak//dede’ak; 2) ina//te’o; 3) nedak//ndelek; 4) losa//nduku; 5) uma//lo; 6) pila nul//masu ndalu; 7) daehena//hataboli; 8) falu-ina//ana-mak.

In both versions, this passage asserts the dominant theme of the composition: that the shells Suti Solo do Bina Bane are orphans in search of a permanent place of refuge and genuine fellowship. In the 2008 version, immediately after this passage, Pak Pono begins the familiar refrain that marks most versions of Suti Solo do Bina Bane:

\[
\begin{align*}
Na \ ami \ kokolak \ mo \ se & \quad \text{Then with whom will we speak} \\
Ma \ ami \ dede’ak \ mo \ se? & \quad \text{And with whom will we talk?}
\end{align*}
\]

In the 2008 version, this refrain, which is first enunciated in lines 51/52, is repeated in lines 62/63, 73/74 and 85/86—each time in reply to one of the directives on where to seek refuge.

The 2009 version also uses this formulaic refrain but alternates with another formulaic refrain:

\[
\begin{align*}
Na \ ami \ maka \ bani \ neu \ se & \quad \text{Then on whom will we rely} \\
Ma \ ami \ mama \ hena \ neu \ se? & \quad \text{And on whom will we depend?}
\end{align*}
\]

This refrain occurs first in lines 66/67 and is followed in lines 77/78 by the same refrain that is used throughout the 2008 version:

\[
\begin{align*}
Na \ ami \ kokolak \ mo \ se & \quad \text{Then with whom will we speak} \\
Ma \ ami \ dede’ak \ mo \ se? & \quad \text{And with whom will we talk?}
\end{align*}
\]

This refrain is then followed by a return to the first refrain in lines 90/91 but with the order of the two lines reversed:

\[
\begin{align*}
Na \ ami \ mama \ hena \ neu \ se & \quad \text{Then on whom will we depend} \\
Ma \ ami \ maka \ bani \ neu \ se? & \quad \text{And on whom will we rely?} \end{align*}
\]

Finally, where one expects a return to the alternative refrain in lines 101/102, Pak Pono offers another, more emphatic variant of his initial refrain:

\[
\begin{align*}
Sona \ ami \ nama \ hena \ ta & \quad \text{For us, there is nothing to depend on} \\
Ma \ ami \ maka \ bani \ ta. & \quad \text{And for us, there is nothing to rely upon.}
\end{align*}
\]
Coming as the last in a succession of these refrains, this is a powerful poetic assertion.

Like other versions of Suti Solo do Bina Bane, the concluding passages of both of Pak Pono’s recitations recount the return of the shells to the sea.

The 2008 version presents this return to the sea with what is a commonplace observation that is frequently heard on Rote. Whereas a bailer shell (bina) is occasionally found with some remnant fleshy content, a nautilus shell is always found without its content. This observation is the basis for the concluding lines of the 2008 version:

120. Mita kada Bina loun
    We see only Bina’s shell
121. Ma hapu kada Suti loun.
    And find only Suti’s shell.
122. Te isin ta.
    But no contents.
123. Bina bei ma-isik
    Bina still has contents
124. Tēhu Suti isin ta.
    But Suti has no contents.
125. Losa faik ia
    To this day
126. Ma nduku ledok ia.
    And until this time.

Technically, the composition of lines 120–24 is not based on pairs and should probably be considered as a commentary on the recitation rather than as an integral part of it. Lines 125/126 simply repeat lines 118/119 as an appropriate conclusion.

The 2009 version has a more complex conclusion. It recounts the passage of the shells to the sea, but then recounts their return to the land and their transformation into specific cultural objects: the first spinning base and first indigo container. As, for example, in Old Meno’s composition, this statement—just six lines out of a total of 150 lines—links this recitation to a special corpus of sacred origin chants, even though the precise connections to this corpus are not articulated. Were these connections not articulated in other versions, the concluding lines in this version would make little sense, especially when they are inserted with observations about the content or lack of content in the two types of shell.

135. De liun pode heni Bina isin
    The ocean throws away Bina’s contents
    And the sea casts away Suti’s pods.
137. Nalak duas bonu boa selu
    Then the two bob back like boa wood
138. De ala dae mai
    They come to land
139. De ala madak mai. They come to dry land.
140. Tehu Bina bei ma isik But Bina still has some contents
141. Ma Suti isi ta. And Suti has no contents.
142. De losa besaka. So it is to the present.
143. Ala tao Bina neu dipo ina They make Bina into a spinning base
144. Ma tao Suti neu tena tauk And make Suti into an indigo container
145. Fo ina mana pa’a abasala So the woman who winds cotton
146. Ma feto ma feo futusala And the girl who dyes the threads
147. Tao neu dipo inak They make a spinning base
148. Ala tao neu tena tauk. And they make an indigo container.
149. De losa besaka Bina bei ma isik Until now, Bina still has content
150. Te Suti isin ta kada louna. But Suti has only its shell.

In ritual terms, if a version of Suti Solo do Bina Bane recounts the passage of the nautilus and bailer shells from the sea through a series of impermanent stations and then finally back to the sea, it can be used as a mortuary chant symbolic of the passage of a human being, as an orphan and widow, through the course of a lifetime. If, however, a recitation alludes to the creation and use of the nautilus and bailer shells as key ritual objects in the processes of weaving and dyeing, it constitutes an origin chant and forms part of a larger corpus of sacred knowledge. Pak Pono’s 2008 version can appropriately be considered a mortuary chant whereas his 2009 version—because of the brief ritual allusions at its conclusion—can more appropriately be considered as an origin chant.

These versions of Suti Solo do Bina Bane were among the last recitations of Esau Pono. Although he continued to preside at our recording sessions in Bali, he grew ever weaker at each gathering and eventually he was too weak to join our ninth session in 2014. Sometime after midnight on the 16th of December 2014, he died. At his funeral his fellow poets gathered to chant his farewell and with the help of Dr Lintje Pellu, who travelled from Kupang to Rote, I was able to send a chant that I composed to give voice to our long friendship.
