Framing the global economic downturn
Crisis rhetoric and the politics of recessions
Framing the global economic downturn

Crisis rhetoric and the politics of recessions

Edited by Paul ’t Hart and Karen Tindall
Professor John Wanna is the Sir John Bunting Chair of Public Administration at the Research School of Social Sciences at The Australian National University and is the director of research for the Australian and New Zealand School of Government (ANZSOG). He is also a joint appointment with the Department of Politics and Public Policy at Griffith University and a principal researcher with two research centres: the Governance and Public Policy Research Centre and the nationally-funded Key Centre in Ethics, Law, Justice and Governance at Griffith University.
Table of Contents

The contributors ix

Part I. Setting the stage
1. From ‘market correction’ to ‘global catastrophe’: framing the economic downturn
   Paul ’t Hart and Karen Tindall 3
2. Understanding crisis exploitation: leadership, rhetoric and framing contests in response to the economic meltdown
   Paul ’t Hart and Karen Tindall 21

Part II. One crisis, different worlds: the United States and Canada
3. The United States: crisis leadership in times of transition
   Isaac Ijjo Donato 43
4. Canada: the politics of optimism
   Anastasia Glushko 69

Part III. Dark clouds and turbulence in Europe
5. United Kingdom: the politics of government survival
   Justin Pritchard 99
6. Republic of Ireland: from Celtic tiger to recession victim
   Adam Masters 127
7. France: dominant leadership
   Natalie Windle 157
8. The European Union: from impotence to opportunity?
   Tully Fletcher 181

Part IV. No hiding place: the meltdown and the Asia-Pacific Region
9. Australia: ‘the lucky country’ on a knife edge
   Matthew Laing and Karen Tindall 203
10. New Zealand: electoral politics in times of crisis
    Michael Jones 243
11. Singapore: staying the course
    Faith Benjaathonsirikul 267
Part V. Comparisons and reflections

12. Contesting the frame: opposition leadership and the global financial crisis
   Brendan McCaffrie
   287

13. Crisis leadership in terra incognita: why meaning making is not enough
   Arjen Boin
   309

14. Framing dilemmas in the quest for successful crisis management
   Allan McConnell
   315

15. Managing trans-boundary crises: leadership challenges for the EU Presidency
   Bengt Sundelius
   323

16. Public leadership and the social construction of economic catastrophe
   Paul ’t Hart and Karen Tindall
   331