Agenda's New Look

In its 13-year history Agenda's look, and its presentation format and style, have not changed significantly. Starting with this issue, Agenda has adopted a modern new look. The new colours and style flow from the policy of The Australian National University's College of Business and Economics, the publishers of Agenda, to present a consistent corporate image in all the College's publication. Adoption of the new look is strictly an aesthetic change and does not affect Agenda's aims and objectives, nor the articles that are published. The contents of each issue will continue to be presented in the traditional structure that has become familiar to subscribers and regular readers.
