Contents

Introduction: Should the biography of a person 'whose business is thinking' simply 'be the story of their thought?' 1
Melanie Nolan

Research Articles

Contextualising historians' pursuits in intellectual biography: A method in transition 9
Melanie Nolan

I. Intellectual Biography and Historical-Writing: The Case of J. G. A. Pocock

'Godwits and kiwis': J. G. A. Pocock's 'antipodean perception' and the purpose of history 35
Richard Whatmore

Godwit history: What J. G. A. Pocock saw and how he saw it 59
Kate Fullagar

Before the godwit and the owl: John Pocock's kiwi history 65
Thomas Ashby

II. Kinds of Historians' Intellectual Biographies

A. C. Pigou and the intellectual biography of economic thinkers 97
Ian Kumekawa

Walking in the footsteps of Eric Hobsbawm: Space and place in intellectual biography 113
Emile Chabal

Edward Gibbon Wakefield and the business of colonisation 133
Matthew Birchall

III. Historians' Intellectual Autobiographies

Autobiography as intellectual life writing 155
Jaume Aurell

Biology and biography: Reflections on writing life and lives 173
Alison Bashford

Writing Lives

Patrick Mullins in Conversation with Emily Gallagher about The Stained Man: A Crime, a Scandal, and the Making of a Nation 191
Patrick Mullins and Emily Gallagher

Book Reviews

Ian Britain review of Iola Mathews, Race Mathews: A Life in Politics 203

Emma Carson review of Diana Thorp, Code of Silence: How Australian Women Helped Win the War 205

Matthew Cunneen review of Alan Atkinson, The House of Blue Glass: A Life of Penelope Lucas 207

Derek Drinkwater review of D. W. Hayton, ed., Allen Leeper's Letters Home, 1908–1912: An Irish–Australian at Edwardian Oxford 209

Karen Fox review of Jacqueline Kent, Inconvenient Women: Australian Radical Writers 1900–1970 213

Morag Fraser review of Susan Lever, A. D. Hope: A Life 217

Lydia Allison Fucsko review of David Horton, Beginning's End: Origins of an English Family Migrating to Australia in 1929 221

Adrian Jones review of Chris Feik, ed., John Hirst: Selected Writings 225

Matthew Jordan review of Lachlan Strahan, The Curious Diplomat: A Memoir from the Frontlines of Diplomacy 229

Skye Krichauff review of Greg Lockwood, Diary of C. W. Schürmann: Begun the 27th May 1838, on the Day of His Embarkation for South Australia 235

Madeline Pentland review of Juliet Rieden, Quentin Bryce: The Authorised Biography 239

James Watson review of Helen Trinca, Looking for Elizabeth: The Life of Elizabeth Harrower; and Susan Wyndham, Elizabeth Harrower: The Woman in the Watch Tower 243

Contributors 247