About Lilith

Lilith: A Feminist History Journal is the journal of the Australian Women's History Network (AUSWHN). First published in Melbourne in 1984, Lilith is a peer-reviewed journal that publishes articles in all areas of women's, feminist and gender history. It is a valuable forum for both new and established scholars. The journal is produced by a collective of postgraduates and early career researchers, along with a distinguished Editorial Advisory Board of leading scholars in the field. New collective members are always welcome. Please contact Lilith (lilithjournal@gmail.com) if you are interested in being part of the team.

Submissions

Submissions are due in September each year. Lilith only publishes articles that constitute an original piece of research. Thus it only accepts articles that are not under review by other journals, and that are substantially different from other published work. All articles are peer reviewed, and only articles that pass the review process are published. Lilith will also consider publishing short non-refereed book reviews and discussion essays. Submission guidelines are available at the Lilith website.

Access

The journal is only available electronically. All back issues are available via the Lilith website.
