ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This guide is based on research conducted in the national project 'Whistling While They Work: Enhancing the Theory and Practice of Internal Witness Management in the Australian Public Sector' (see: <<http://www.griffith.edu.au/whistleblowing>>). This research was made possible by the Australian Research Council (Linkage Project 0560303) and the project's partner organisations:

Commonwealth	Commonwealth Ombudsman Australian Public Service Commission
New South Wales	Independent Commission Against Corruption NSW Ombudsman
Queensland	Crime and Misconduct Commission Queensland Ombudsman Office of the Public Service Commissioner
Western Australia	Corruption and Crime Commission Ombudsman Western Australia Office of the Public Sector Standards Commissioner
Victoria	Ombudsman Victoria
Northern Territory	Commissioner for Public Employment
Australian Capital Territory	Chief Minister's Department
Non-government partner	Transparency International Australia

The authors thank all project partners and colleagues for their support and contributions to these results. Special thanks to the case-study organisations and their enthusiastic representatives who provided invaluable information on managing whistleblowing in practice. Additional thanks to Professor David Lewis, Middlesex University, United Kingdom; Professor Terry Dworkin, Seattle and Indiana Universities, United States of America; and Peter Bennett, National Whistleblowing Information Centre (Australia) for many helpful comments on the draft of this guide.

The findings and views expressed are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent the views of the Australian Research Council or the partner organisations in the project.
